Drinkwell Big-Dog Pet Fountain Review

Have you ever had trouble with your dog drinking out of the toilet? Or maybe you've caught your furry friend jumping up on counters to drink from the faucet.... Well, this is a common problem that we pet owners face, but someone has finally done something about it. A company called Drinkwell has released the ultimate healthy dog water solution for large breed dogs – the Drinkwell Big-Dog Pet Fountain.

Since many dogs just can't resist getting a drink from a flowing water source, like sinks, hoses and toilets, the folks at Drinkwell have released a water bowl that has its own, built-in fountain that keeps the water flowing.

This allows dogs to get a drink from a streaming water source, without drinking dirty toilet water, or getting into trouble for jumping up on the counters.

We all want our dogs to drink plenty of water, but we sure don't want them to get it from the toilet, or get themselves in trouble by jumping on the counter, so the solution provided by the Drinkwell Big-Dog Pet Fountain is one that all dog owners can certainly appreciate.

The Drinkwell Big-Dog Pet Fountain works by integrating a 5 inch free-falling stream that keeps water moving and flowing, 24 hours a day. There's even a built-in charcoal filter that keeps water clean, odorless and free from the bad taste that stagnant water is notorious for. The end result is a trouble-free way for dogs to stay hydrated.

Less Filling the Water Bowl

Big dogs drink A LOT of water. And that means, that as a dog owner, many of us have to fill up the water bowl several times a day. While that's not a big deal, it can get old after a while. And if you're going to be out for the day, it's possible that your dog could get thirsty and not have access to fresh water.

With the Drinkwell Big-Dog Pet Fountain, though, you get a full 2.25 gallon reservoir. Simply fill that up once, and you won't have to do it again for over a week, depending upon the size of your dog and how much she typically drinks.

Customer Reviews

It just wouldn't be a complete Drinkwell Big-Dog Pet Fountain review without touching on the customer reviews that I found online. All in all I found over 150 reviews from real life customers. The average score this dog fountain earned was an impressive 4.3 out of 5 stars.

That kind of score means that the vast majority of reviewers gave this fountain the highest marks possible. It's just not that often that so many people agree about any type of pet accessory, so the high customer marks that this fountain has received really proves how much dog owners enjoy using this doggy water fountain.

With plenty of positive reviews and a reputation for being a reliable way to encourage dogs to drink enough water, I just can't think of any reason to not recommend this dog water fountain to pet owners. It helps to prevent the toilet water drinking and makes life easier on us pet owners by making water bowl fill ups less frequent. This is the dog water bowl that every large breed dog owner needs to own.
